

marcus dagan CONNECT: Rhapsody <> CD Baby <> Napster <> Yahoo <> MSN <> Amazon <> Band Website <> MySpace Blog <> MySpace Page <> MySpace Gigs

Artist History

This Train Still Runs is the 4th and final CD from this very talented international performer/songwriter. The CD was a year in the making and was a labor of love. You can hear the love in every track. Marcus has great backing musicians from Bermuda, London, New York and Las Vegas, their commitment to Marcus and his songs is clearly evident.

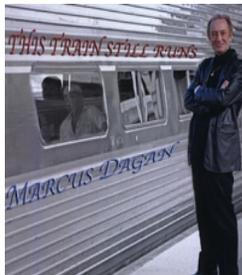

The title track is a powerful, evocative celebration of things past and the belief that the future is full of hope. His reading of "Wind Beneath My Wings" breathes new life and meaning into this timeless song. "Green Among The Gold" is a testament to the spirit of the Irish people starting a new life in Australia. "Simple Joys Of Pleasure" and "Keys" are eloquent in their almost unadorned directness. "Heroes Of The Universe" will uplift your spirits in the belief that life will always continue. "Something More" and "Special Lady" are Marcus being the romantic that he is. "My Dreams Are Gathered Safely In" is his homage to his second home, Bermuda. You'll want to hop a plane and get your toes in that turquoise water! "We Just Ran Out Of Love" laments the loss of love in a song that will become a "standard" on the cabaret circuit. "Those Were The Days" celebrates the memories that shape who we are today. "Booze Is Just An Excuse" is a late night, jazz inspired homage to every saloon in New York City. "This Is My Country" is a love song to America and all its people. The closing song, David Freidman's beautiful ballad "I'll Be Here With You" is Marcus promising the music will always be there to touch you.

Marcus Dagan Blog

"This Train Still Runs" Reviewed by Radiolndy.com!

POSTED BY: Eric Lawrence

POSTED ON: 01 Dec 2008 05:31 AM

"This Train Still Runs" is an easy listening/contemporary album filled with some popular standards by Marcus Dagan. Dagan's vocal qualities are deep and rich, and emit strong yet emotional tonality. Remarkable musicians accompany lead vocals in a sophisticated, clean, and crisp style. Unwind to the lyrics of each song as you remember the good old days and the good days that are still to come. A nice, relaxing jazz feel with a bluesy muted horn is exceptional on the song "Booze Is Just An Excuse." Featured in the title track "It Was A Very Good Year/This Train Still Runs" is a great classical piano favorite that introduces this popular standard and a marvelous orchestration through the string section. "This Train Still Runs" is a superb album and well worth listening to, especially for fans of Neil Diamond and Harry Chapin.

-Diane and the Radiolndy.com Reviewer Team

Check out Marcus Dagan's music on Radiolndy.com with link to purchase and links to popular sites